

Famous Dancer Gives Complexion Secrets

The learned secrets of Dolores' untroubled beauty—the wonderful charm that has dazzled the courts of Europe and captivated vast audiences everywhere. The famous dancer Dolores' secrets and cosmetics. Yet despite the strenuousness of her life, she retains the incomparable complexion that has made her "indiscreet." An intimate friend tells me the secret is not in her skin, but in her face which she keeps as moist as a rose. This is applied at night in the manner and cream is used and washed off in the morning. It should be the dead particles of skin which daily appear and a fair, soft, fresh, girlish complexion is always in evidence. Dolores' skin is not marred by a single wrinkle, not even the finest lines, and she keeps these off by daily bathing the face in a solution made by dissolving a pint of water in a half pint of lemon juice. As your complexion keeps these ingredients as well as moist, it will be one source of the way is sufficient, no doubt your readers will welcome this information.—Allen Moore in Beauty's Mirror.

BABIES BY PARCEL

POST THE LATEST

Kansas City, May 4.—The stock has a rival in the parcel post carrier. It was announced at the postoffice yesterday, when it was decided that babies within the weight limit—properly crated—may be shipped and sent from city to city through the mails.

The decision was forced by a negro, who made application to send his small son to Poplar Bluff, Mo., by parcel post. While running rapidly through the rule book, Postmaster Collins inquired why the youngster was not put in charge of a train conductor to make the trip. The father explained he did not have the money to buy a railroad ticket, but could purchase postage stamps. He wanted to send his son to his grandmother, he said.

"How much does the child weigh?" asked the postmaster.

"About 44 pounds," was the reply. "Then you can't send him. Twenty pounds is the weight limit outside the second zone."

Afterward, Collins said he would find no rule prohibiting the parcel posting of children. "If properly crated," youngsters weighing as 50 pounds, with their crates, may be sent to points within the first and second zones. He hopes no one will try to mail another baby.

MISS TANZER NOW CHANGES HER STORY

DECLARES ON OATH THAT JAMES W. OSBORNE IS MAN WHO COURTED HER

New York, May 4.—Miss Rae Tanzer, the young milliner who sued James W. Osborne for $50,000 for alleged breach of promise to marry and later withdrew her suit, saying Mr. Osborne was not the man who courted her under the name of Oliver Osborne, changed her testimony again and under oath identified James W. Osborne as her admirer, Oliver Osborne.

Miss Tanzer's renewed identification came while she was under cross-examination by Roger R. Wood, Assistant United States district attorney, as a witness for the defense in the trial of Frank D. Stafford for perjury in connection with the breach of promise case.

Miss Tanzer Loses Temper.

When Mr. Wood questioned her with severity, Miss Tanzer apparently lost her temper and, forgetting the instructions of her counsel, said:

"Yes, James W. Osborne is the man I was running around with."

"Do you mean to say that this is the man you were running around with as 'Oliver Osborne'?" asked Mr. Wood, pointing to James W. Osborne, who rose to his feet.

She glanced at Mr. Osborne for a moment and said:

"Yes, that is the man."

Mr. Osborne smiled broadly at this assertion and then sat down.

Wanted Osborne in Court.

Mr. Wood asked Miss Tanzer if she had not told Harold Spelberg, her lawyer, and himself that James W. Osborne was not the same man as Oliver Osborne.

She said she had, but asked Wood to have Osborne brought to court.

Her sister, Doris, called to the stand identified James W. Osborne as the man who called on her sister under the name of Oliver Osborne.

RANCH AND SHOW ARE TWO THINGS

Oklahoma City, May 4.—In order to more clearly distinguish the Miller Brothers' show from the 101 Ranch, incorporation papers were taken out today for the 101 Ranch at Bliss, which embraces the big farm operated by the three Miller brothers, Joe, George and Zack. The incorporation made today simply places that farm back as a corporation as it was previous to about three years ago, when the then existing corporation was dissolved.

The 101 Ranch is the big farm at Bliss, where the Miller brothers have made their fortunes. Here some of the big film companies have secured some of the greatest wild west scenes ever put on the screen. Visitors from the east have also summered at the commodious dwelling of the Millers.

A few weeks ago incorporation papers were filed here for the wild west show under the name of Miller & Arlington, the latter a New York man. The capital stock of the show was $10,000, while the ranch is $300,000. A general line of farming will be done by the Millers on their ranch as they have done in the past.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and start- food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jod Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jod Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

MAKE FOR PROGRESS

Advantage in Use of the Auto in the More Remote Districts of the Country.

MEANS MUCH TO FARMERS

Has Brought Them Into Easy Communication With the Cities and Railroads, Proving Itself an Engine of Industrial and Social Welfare.

Until the advent of the popular-priced motor car thousands of farmers in the various states were practically as remote from the centers of population as the inhabitants of an oasis village in the Sahara.

A few years ago a trip from the farm to the city meant tedious hours in an uncomfortable buggy behind a tired horse. Today the farmer steps into his motor car and derives pleasure and relaxation from what was formerly an unpleasant necessity. To him the motor car, which was once looked upon as a luxury, has become a necessity without which he would be seriously handicapped.

The popularity of the motor car among farmers is being reflected in all parts of the country. This fact is brought home by an interview with a large distributor.

"From conversations with factory officials I learn that more than half of the thousands of cars being built this season will be purchased by people who live in remote districts," he says.

"The automobile has done more than any other one thing toward opening up the sections of this country which are distant from the cities. It has brought the farmer into easy communication with the town, the railroad and other things that make for progress."

"The motor car is the modern engine of industrial and social welfare. Even where the poorest roads prevail it is plowing through mud and sand and deep ruts every day in the year. It is safe to say that there is hardly a farm in the United States that has not been invaded by a motor car at one time or another."

"Disregarding entirely the influence of the automobile on the commercial welfare of the farmer, it has become a social feature of great influence. People who heretofore were confined to their own limited social area through lack of easy transportation are enabled to come into touch with others through the agency of the motor car."

Mud Stains Mark Car.

When a car is newly painted care should be taken to remove any mud or other foreign matter as quickly as possible. If the mud is allowed to stay on new paint over night, it will be difficult to remove the mud stains. If these stains penetrate the varnish, it will be necessary to retouch such places. After the varnish has become thoroughly set there is not so much danger.

Cold Water a Good Thing.

On a new car occasional washing with cold water serves to harden the varnish and increases its brilliancy. During the winter, if the washing is performed in a warm place, the use of cold water for an occasional washing may be continued, but cold water applied in a cold place at a frigid season of the year is injurious to the varnish.

Accidents Avoidable.

Automobile accidents which are being chronicled almost daily in every section of the country entail injuries to motorists who caused the accidents because they do not take the ordinary precaution of skid-proofing their cars with tire chains, and also entail injuries to innocent bystanders who are so unfortunate as to be in the path of the skidding automobile.

expense of others. Under the law the pipe line company should either have taken the total production or should have prorated its purchases and equalized them within 90 days.
